

This area may be notched in standard elements (holes for canalization and ventilation pipes)